

Invitation

Thematic group on climate neutrality under the Greening Network

First online session, 30 June 10:30-12:00 CET

Following the broad interest expressed in the Greening Network questionnaire on climate neutrality and the inspiring and encouraging discussions in the meeting of the Executive Director Group on Administrative Excellence, the European Environment Agency (EEA) invites you to an online exchange to discuss opportunities and challenges on the path towards a climate neutral administration.

The link for the webinar will be sent closer to the date.

This thematic group is open to all organisations participating in the Greening network interested in climate neutral public administration.

Agenda

- Introduction (EEA)
- Tour de table
- Presentation by Dr Burkhard Huckestein:
The path to a greenhouse gas neutral administration. Stages and guidelines (30 min)
- Q&A and discussion
- Next steps (EEA)

[REDACTED], senior economist at the German Umweltbundesamt, is expert on environmental management. For many years, he worked as environmental coordinator and auditor. He is member of national and international expert groups on climate protection management and initiated the German network of environment management officers of public administration. In early 2021 his guide on GHG neutrality for public administrations was published, that will be available in English soon.